This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

PREFACE.

In the following pages an attempt has been made to furnish lists of all the civil officers appointed under the authority of the two charters of Massachusetts, from the first settlement of the colony until the overthrow of the Royal government, together with the dates of such appointments. Such a work, if faithfully executed, can hardly fail to be of service, and it has been the object of the compiler to strive for accuracy in every detail given. The names and dates have been taken from the official records, and such as have not been copied by him personally, have been transcribed by Mr. William B. Trask, a gentleman eminently qualified to do the work thoroughly and accurately. The method pursued was to copy all the civil appointments as they stood on the record, after which these facts were classified and arranged by the compiler. It would hardly be possible to escape some errors in so large a collection of names and dates; but it is hoped that the care exercised in the work of collection and classification has reduced the mistakes to an inconsiderable number.

In these lists will be found the names of the comparatively few civil officers appointed under the first charter, as well as of the far greater number rendered necessary by the increase of the province under its second charter. To render the record more nearly complete it has seemed best to include even the lowest grades of commissioned officers, those of justice of the peace and coroner. An examination of the names, however, will convince the reader that these offices were formerly held in higher estimation than they may be to-day, and that they formed the first steps in the political life of many of the most distinguished men. For the genealogist and local historian these lists will possess a peculiar interest.

The explanations given at the commencement of each list render any general description here unnecessary. It may be said, however, of the lists of the judges, that though comparisons were made throughout with the valuable Judicial History of Massachusetts by Hon. Emory Washburn, the facts here given have all been taken from the original records, and add materially to his collections. Especially may be mentioned the records of the counties of York, Lincoln and Cumberland, now in the limits of Maine, but in fact during the Provincial period constituting a portion of Massachusetts, of which he took no notice.

As this book is only intended to be an aid to the student, it was deemed unadvisable to attempt notes on the many interesting topics suggested by it. The constitution of the courts, the causes of appointments or dismissals, the extensive changes in political bodies like the council, are all matters suggested by an examination of these lists, but even the briefest discussion of them would require too much space.

One general conclusion alone may be stated. These lists will indicate clearly that prior to the Revolution, the offices, if not the controlling power, were in the hands of a few families, and other investigations will show these families to have been closely allied by marriages. From this state of affairs the Revolution rescued us; the reader will doubtless form his own opinion as to the influence the presence of such an oligarchy had in causing that event.

In conclusion, the compiler has to express his thanks to A. C. Goodell, Jr., Esq, for valuable assistance in relation to dates procured in England, and to the commissioners for the republication of the Province Laws, for an arrangement by which the use of stereotype plates was secured.

LIST OF CIVIL OFFICERS.

LIST OF CIVIL OFFICERS.

COLONIAL PERIOD, 1629–1686.

The charter granted by Charles I to certain persons, creating them "one body politique and corporate in fact and name, by the name of the Governor and Company of the Mattachusetts Bay in New England," is dated March 4, 1628–9. It provides for yearly elections of a governor, deputy-governor and eighteen assistants, on the last Wednesday in Easter term, in the general court or assembly of the company. The officers named in the charter are:

MATHEW CRADOCK, Governor,
THOMAS GOFFE, Deputy Governor,

and as assistants

Sir Richard Saltonstall,	Symon Whitcomb,	Thomas Adams,
Isaac Johnson,	Increase Nowell,	Thomas Hutchins,
Samuel Aldersey,	Richard Perry,	John Browne,
John Ven,	Nathaniel Wright,	George Foxcraft,
John Humfrey,	Samuel Vassall,	William Vassall,
John Endecott,	Theophilus Eaton,	William Pinchon.

Before this date (in 1624), a settlement had been commenced at Salem, and both Roger Conant and John Endecott have been graced with the title of governor. Our use of the term will however be limited to those who were the heads at once of the company and of the colony, thus fulfilling the idea conveyed by the charter. Cradock was governor of the company and Endecott of the settlement, but John Winthrop was the first governor of Massachusetts under the first charter, after the consolidation of the duties and powers belonging to that office. The date of the election of charter officers, after the establishment of the settlement here, was the last Wednesday of Easter term in each year. The election at first was by the whole body of freemen assembled together, but this mode proving inconvenient as the number of settlements increased, various alterations were made.

In 1632 (Mass. Rec. I, 95), it was voted "that the Governor, Deputy Governor and Assistants should be chosen by the whole court of Governor, Deputy Governor, Assistants and freemen, and that the Governor shall always be chosen out of the Assistants," and this rule seems to have lasted for two years. In May, 1634, however, eight towns sent representatives, and the general court then passed two apparently inconsistent votes. It declared (Mass. Rec. I, 117), that "none but the General Court hath power to make and establish laws, nor to elect and appoint officers, as Governor, Deputy Governor, Assistants, Treasurer, Secretary, Captain, Lieutenants, Ensigns, or any of like moment, or to remove such upon misdemeanor, as also to set out the duty and powers of said officers." But it also decreed (Mass. Rec. I, 118–9), that it should be lawful for the freemen of each town to depute two or three persons "to deal in their behalf in the public affairs of the Commonwealth," who should "have the full power and voices of all the said freemen, derived to them for the making and establishing of laws, granting of lands, &c., and to deal in all other affairs of the Commonwealth wherein the freemen have to do, the matter of election of magistrates and other officers only excepted, wherein every freeman is to give his own voice."

From this we may conclude that the second statement controlled the first, and that it was necessary to have a mass meeting for the election of officers.

Winthrop (Hist. I, 159, old ed.), says of the election in 1635: "The governour and deputy were elected by papers wherein their names were written; but the assistants were chosen by papers, without names, viz: the governour propounded one to the people; then they all went out, and came in at one door, and every man delivered a paper into a hat. Such as gave their vote for the party named, gave in a paper with some figures or scroll in it; others gave in a blank." This seems to indicate that only those freemen who were present cast votes for the assistants at least. The next step was taken under Vane's administration, when it was voted March 9, 1636–7 (Mass. Rec. I, 188), that "it shall be free and lawful for all freemen to send their votes for elections by proxy the next General Court in May, and so for hereafter, which shall be done in this manner: The deputies which shall be chosen shall cause the freemen of their towns to be assembled, and then to take such freemen's votes as please to send by proxy for every magistrate, and seal them up, severally subscribing the magistrate's name on the back side, and so bring them to the Court sealed, with an open roll of the names of the freemen that so send by proxy."

In November, 1639 (Mass. Rec. I, 277), "it was solemnly and unanimously decreed and established that henceforth upon the day or days appointed by our patent to hold our yearly court for the electing of our Governor, Deputy Governor, Assistants and other general officers, being the last Wednesday of every Easter term, that the freemen of this jurisdiction shall, either in person or by proxy, without any summons, attend and consummate the elections; at which time also they shall send their deputies with full power to consult and determine such matters as concern the welfare of this Commonwealth: from which General Court no magistrate or deputy shall depart the Court, or be discharged, without the consent of the major part of the Court, under the penalty of one hundred pounds.

"As for the place of public assembling, it shall be where the preceding Court of Elections was held, unless then and there some other place shall be assigned. This act of ours we conceive so nearly to concern the good of this country, that we earnestly entreat it may never be repealed by any future Court."

On May 13th, 1640 (Mass. Rec. I, 293), it was ordered, that at the town meetings at which the deputies to the general court were chosen, these deputies should nominate to the freemen the candidates they recommended for the next election of magistrates, and should record the votes given to each candidate. The magistrates and deputies were to add the returns from the several towns, and take enough of these names according to the number of votes, to make up the full number of assistants. This list was to be returned to the freemen in each town to choose or reject at the next election; but no new name could be added to those nominated. This plan was to be tried for one year.

In June, 1641 (Mass. Rec. I, 333), it was ordered that the freemen in each town should choose electors to be sent to the court of election, one for every ten voters, who should have power to make election for all the rest.

In June, 1642 (Mass. Rec. II, 21), it was ordered that each town should send one or two freemen to Salem to agree upon a certain number of the most able and fit men to be put in nomination for magistrates at the next court, and none others were to be voted for.

In 1643, May 10 (Rec. II, 37), the mode appointed May 13, 1640, was revived until repealed or altered, except that it was declared that at the preliminary nominations in town meetings, the deputies should have no exclusive right of nominating, but all the freemen might propound names. September 7, 1643, it was ordered that the voting for assistants be with Indian beans, black and white, instead of papers.

On the 7th March, 1643–4, it was voted (Rec. II, 58), that the magistrates and deputies should thereafter sit apart, the assent of both houses being necessary to the passage of laws, &c. On the 13th November, 1644 (Rec. II, 87), it was ordered that within two months the freemen of each town should meet and select seven candidates for new magistrates at the next election. The town votes were then to be sent, sealed, to the shire towns by messengers on the last Thursday of February, and then these selected men for each county were to choose one to carry the sealed vote of the county to Boston, on the last Tuesday of March. At Boston, two magistrates were to open the votes and announce the seven names receiving the most votes, and "that such as have most votes to be first nominated and put to election, that the freemen may know for whom to send in their proxies." The county representatives were to notify the town messengers, and these latter the freemen, and none but the candidates thus proposed could be voted for.

This order, changing only the dates of the meeting in the shire towns, was renewed November 4, 1646 (Rec. III, 86).

In 1647, November 11 (Rec. II, 210), the same order was reenacted, with the important change that the number of nominees should be "to the number of seven persons, or as the General Court shall direct," and "these seven or other number agreed upon as aforesaid," should be nominated for assistants at the court of election.

On the 11th November, 1647 (Rec. II, 220), it was ordered that the freemen should elect the governor, deputy governor, major-general, treasurer, secretary, and commissioners for the United Colonies, by means of papers, and all the assistants by white beans, to be forwarded by their deputies to the court of election, "provided that such as are made free upon the day of election, and only they, shall deliver their votes at the door," and also provided that the votes of small villages which did not send deputies, should be transmitted by the deputies of the nearest town. This order apparently (see Winthrop, II, 311, old ed.), was not liked, since it made compulsory what was before optional, the voting by ballot. He seems to state that the order was repealed and the matter referred to the next court, 1648, which being full of business, the matter was put off farther.

Thus far the details of the elections seems to agree with Lechford's account in 1642 (Plain Dealing, p. 60, Trumbull's ed.), that at the election in Boston all the freemen voted in person or by proxy. He says, however, for the assistants the blanks and marked votes were counted, and "according to the major part of either, the man in nomination stands elected or rejected."

Considering the wording of these laws and the fact that from 1644 to 1649 there were at least ten assistants chosen each year, we feel obliged to conclude: 1st. That the governor, &c., were chosen by popular vote, by the freemen present at the meeting and by ballots sent thither. 2d. That the old assistants were renominated each year as a matter of course and voted on, whilst new names were propounded in accordance with these various schemes before cited, and only used if there were not enough old members desiring or attaining election to make up the number decided upon. It must be remembered that the number of assistants demanded by the charter, eighteen, was never filled before 1680, and it is believed that no evidence remains as to the mode by which the number to be elected in each year was decided upon, or as to the influence which determined this point.

On the 17th October, 1649 (Rec. II, 287), a new rule was made, viz: that on some day in November the freemen in each town were to cast their votes for such as they desired to have chosen assistants at the next court of election, not exceeding twenty in number (each freeman giving only one vote to each of his candidates); these votes were to be sent to the shire towns, and thence the county votes were to be sent to Boston. The eighteen having the most votes were to be the only candidates at the next election. They were to be nominated in the order of their relative votes, the highest first, "except such of those twenty who have been magistrates the year before, who shall have the precedence of the others in nomination on the day of election." "And the printed law for election, p. 21, bearing date 1647, is hereby repealed."

In support of this view we may note that the old assistants were regularly reelected from 1643 to 1649, and that though three were changed in 1650, viz: John Winthrop, jr., Saltonstall and Pelham, the first had removed to Connecticut, and the latter two had gone to England.

On the 19th October, 1658 (Rec. IV, part i, p. 347), it was ordered that inconveniences having arisen from having so many persons nominated, that hereafter only fourteen be nominated, and the previous law was repealed.

In 1665 (Rec. IV, part ii, p. 166), a letter was received from King Charles II, saying "although we have hereby declared our expectation to be that the charter granted by our royal father and now confirmed by us, shall be punctually observed, yet if the number of the Assistants enjoyned thereby by found by experience and by judged by the people to be inexpedient (as we are informed it is), we do then dispense with the same, and declare our will and pleasure herein for the future to be, that the number of said Assistants shall not exceed eighteen, nor be less at any time than ten."

October 12, 1670 (Rec. IV, part ii, p. 468), the number of nominees was fixed at eighteen.

Finally, 4 February, 1679–80 (Rec. V, 262), it was ordered that eighteen assistants be chosen for that year, and October 13, 1680 (Rec. V, 291), a more extended act was passed. The freemen of each town were to meet on the second Tuesday in March and vote by ballot for assistants to the number of twenty, casting only one vote for each candidate. Those votes were to be sent to the shire town, and thence by commissioners the county votes were to be carried to Boston. There on the 2d Tuesday in April the votes were to be opened, and the twenty-six having the most votes were to be the candidates for the next election. These nominees were to be considered according to the number of votes they had received, the old magistrates having the preference in nomination on election day. At the town meetings thereafter all the freemen might put in proxies for officers by ballots and Indian corn, naming twenty out of the twenty-six nominated for assistants, and these votes were to be sent to Boston, when the eighteen having the most votes were chosen for the next year. All the freemen who had not voted by proxy could do so in person on election day, at the Court House in Boston.

The general court adjourned May 20, 1686, the government being superseded by the new commission.

In 1684 proceedings were taken in England to vacate the charter, and a decree was finally issued October 23. A temporary government, directly dependent on the Crown, was projected by King Charles II, and Col. Piercy Kirk was appointed "His Majesty's Lieutenant and Governor General," early in November. During 1685 the old elective government continued, but was regarded only as provisional. On the 14th May, 1686, official information was brought to Boston of the new commissions issued by James II for the territory composed of Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maine and the King's Province. The government was to consist of the president, deputy president, and sixteen counsellors. The commission is dated October 8, 1685.*

1688 April 7,	Andros was created by a new commission governor of all the English possessions on the main land of America, except Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia.
1689 April 18,	Andros's government was overthrown, and a provisional government was established. Two conventions were called, which met May 9th and May 22d, and finally the old magistrates consented to assume office, though disclaiming the idea that they reassumed the old charter.
1689 May 24,	Simon Bradstreet, Governor. Thomas Danforth, Deputy Governor. This temporary government was sanctioned by William and Mary, and lasted till the arrival of the new or second charter, May 14, 1692.

SECRETARY.

1628–9, March 9, John Washborne was chosen secretary of the company in England for one year. 1629, May 13, William Burges was chosen, and the records are in his hand writing until 10 February, 1629–30. Simon Bradstreet's records commence March 18th, 1629–30, with the record of a meeting of the assistants at Southampton, and he doubtless was appointed at that time, though the earliest notice of his election is in 1634. The secretary held office for one year and until his successor was elected.

1636 June,	Increase Nowell. (He appears as acting secretary, though not formally elected until 1639).
1650 May 22,	Edward Rawson. (He held office until the charter was taken away).

1685 Sept. 21,	Edward Randolph commissioned secretary and registrar under Dudley's government. He held until the overthrow of Andros in 1689. May 3, 1687 he rented his office to John West, who had acted as deputy under him.

ASSISTANTS.

By the charter, eighteen assistants were to be chosen annually, but as has been noted (p. 14) this rule was continuously neglected for nearly fifty years. Until 1680 the number varied from seven to twelve, and we are at a loss to explain the reason of this palpable violation of the law. Hutchinson (Hist. I, 326), writes, under date of 1679: "They continued to limit themselves to eight or ten assistants. At first, as has been observed, it was done to leave room for persons of quality expected from England. These expectations had long ceased. In a popular government, and where the magistrates were annually chosen, increasing the number would give a better chance to aspiring men. On the other hand, the greater the number of assistants the less the weight of the house of deputies, the election of all officers depending upon the major vote of the whole court. This last reason might cause the deputies to refuse their consent to an increase."

Finally, the king's letter of July 24, 1679 (Hutchinson I, 326), amongst other articles ordered that "the ancient number of eighteen assistants be henceforth observed as by charter." Accordingly at the session of 4th February, 1679–80, it was ordered by the court that for the future eighteen should be elected, twenty being voted for, and the eighteen receiving the most votes being declared elected (Mass. Records, V, 262).

At first the governor, deputy governor and assistants seem to have sat with the deputies, though exercising by a majority vote among themselves a negative upon the proceedings of the latter. This privilege created dissension (Hutchinson, I, 143), and finally the deputies voted, 7th March, 1643–4, that the magistrates should sit by themselves. The powers of the two bodies, however, seems to have remained quite undefined in theory. In 1645, '6 and '7, the assistants were as before present at the court of elections, but after this last date they seem to have held separate sessions.

NOTES.—The following facts may be here noted:

1638. John Endecott acted, but I do not find the date of his election.

1642. The earlier copies of the published records were imperfect in regard to the elections this year. Later copies, however, have a cancel of the first sheet, and two pages of additional matter are given, which supply the names recorded in the following list. (See Palfrey, I, 613).

1652. I do not find that Thomas Flynt was chosen this year, and as his will, of 21 December, 1651 (according to Savage), mentions that he was "intending a voyage to England," probably he went in 1652, and hence was not elected in his absence.

1685. Oliver Purchase was elected, but declined.

ASSISTANTS.

[The governor and deputy governor in each year are marked with stars, but are not counted among the assistants. A star prefixed to a name shows that it has not occurred previously.]

In Andros's first commission the above twelve marked with stars were reappointed, and the following thirteen added:

Thomas Hinckley,
Barnabas Lothrop,
William Bradford,
Daniel Smith,
John Walley,
Nathaniel Clarke,
John Coggeshall,
Walter Clark,
Walter Newberry,
John Sanford,
John Greene,
Richard Arnold,
John Albro.

These were all in office from 1686 to 1689, and the following four were added at the dates named:

Francis Nicholson, August, 1687,
Robert Treat, November, 1687,
John Allyn, November, 1687.
Samuel Shrimpton, March, 1688.

† Did not accept.

Inter Charter Period—Continued.

In Andros's second Commission (April 16, 1688), forty-two members of the council are named (N. Y. Doc. III, 543), viz: all the foregoing (except the four who did not accept), and

William Browne,
Richard Smith,
Simond Lynde,
Anthony Brockholst,
Frederick Phillips,
Jarvis Baxter.*
Stephen Van Courtlandt,*
John Young.
Nicholas Bayard,
John Palmer,
John Sprague,

This council was of course dispersed at Andros's overthrow.

The following names were signed April 18th, 1689, to the demand for Andros's surrender:

Wait Winthrop,
Simon Bradstreet,
William Stoughton,
Samuel Shrimpton,
Bartholomew Gedney,
William Brown,
Thomas Danforth,
John Richards,
Elisha Cooke,
Isaac Addington,
John Nelson,
Adam Winthrop,
Peter Sergeant,
John Foster,
David Waterhouse.

On the 20th April the above, together with the following, formed a "Council for the safety of the people, and conservation of the peace." (Hutchinson, I, 381–2).

James Russell,
John Phillips,
Penn Townsend,
Joseph Lynde,
John Joyliffe,
Eliakim Hutchinson,
Nathaniel Oliver,
John Eyre,
Jeremiah Dummer,
William Johnson,
John Hathorne,
Andrew Belcher,
Richard Sprague,
James Parker,
Dudley Bradstreet,
Nathaniel Saltonstall,
Richard Dummer,
Robert Pike,
John Smith,
Edmund Quincy,
William Bond,
Daniel Pierce.

They chose Bradstreet, President; John Foster and Adam Winthrop, Treasurers; Wait Winthrop, Commander-in-Chief; Isaac Addington, Clerk.

* NOTE.—Palfrey has Anthony Baxter and Henry Courtland in place of these two, but the names are plainly given in the record, and are those of prominent men in New York. On the other hand, the record says John Nicholson, though undoubtedly Francis Nicholson, the lieutenant governor, is meant.

May 22, 1689, representatives of fifty-four towns met at Boston, and the governor (Bradstreet), and assistants chose in 1686, reassumed office provisionally, the other members of the council of safety resigning. This government lasted until the new charter was obtained.

NOTE.—From the records at the state house of Dudley's brief administration in 1686, we take the following items:

1686. May 25, Giles Dyer appointed receiver of duties on wines and liquors imported.

May 28, John Usher treasurer; Mr. Nowell late treasurer; Richard Bulkley clerk to take account and give license to ship horses; Nathaniel Barnes was his predecessor.

John Green, marshal of Middlesex.

May 29, Francis Hooke, to take account of wines, &c., imported into York and Kittery; Robert Estwick, for the rest of the province.

June 2, Officers appointed:

FOR SUFFOLK.

Daniel Allen, Thomas Dudley, } Clerks. John Winchcomb, Nathaniel Page, } Marshals.

John Blake, Coroner.

FOR ESSEX.

Samuel Sewall, Clerk. Jeremiah Neal, Marshal.

Samuel Gardner, Coroner.

FOR HAMPSHIRE.

John Holyoke, Samuel Partridge, } Clerks. Samuel Marshfield, Marshal. Joseph Hawley, Coroner.

FOR THE PROVINCE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Richard Chamberlain, Clerk. Pheasant Estwick, Coroner.

June 3, Major Bulkeley, Provost Marshal.

Capt. Edward Tyng, to have command of Fort Loyall.

June 8, Nicholas Manning, marshal of Falmouth and vicinity.

June 17, Thomas Scottow, clerk of the province of Maine, in place of Edward Rushworth.

Inter Charter Period—Continued.

July 12, Pheasant Eastwick, marshal of New Hampshire.
20, Jonathan Hammond, marshal of Maine.
21, John Richards and Simon Lynde, to assist in holding county courts for Suffolk, until further order.
22, Thomas Davey, coroner for Hampshire.
23, Daniel Cheevers, keeper of the gaol in Middlesex.
26, John Richards and Simon Lynde, judges of the next court of pleas at Boston.
John Hincks, one of the council at Great Island, to be captain of the fort there, and of the train band.
Richard Waldron, jr., to be clerk of the court and probate, paying £10 yearly to Richard Chamberlain; also, deputy register to Edward Randolph, in New Hampshire, on the same terms that Mr. Scotto is in Maine.
William Stoughton, empowered to take charge of the several courts in Suffolk, Middlesex and Essex.

AUDITOR GENERAL.

This office was created 18th October, 1645, and abolished 23d October, 1657. The only incumbent seems to have been
Nathaniel Duncan

MARSHAL GENERAL.

1636. James Penn.
1637. Edward Mitchelson (who held undoubtedly till 1681).
1681. ~~May 27~~, John Greene was appointed.

AGENTS SENT TO ENGLAND.

1641. June 2, Rev. Hugh Peter, Rev. Thomas Welde, and William Hibbens were appointed "to go for England upon some weighty occasions for the good of the country, as was conceived." John Winthrop, jr., accompanied them. Their agency terminated 1 October, 1645. John Pocock of London had been associated with them, and after their dismissal remained in charge until Winslow's arrival. (Palfrey II, 176).
1646. Edward Winslow.
1662. January, Simon Bradstreet and Rev. John Norton sent specially, who returned September 8th, 1662.
1676. Sept'r, William Stoughton and Peter Bulkley sent. They arrived home December 23d, 1679.
1681. March, Samuel Nowell and John Richards chosen, Stoughton declining a second appointment. Nowell also declined, and a new choice was made.
1682. Joseph Dudley and John Richards were chosen, and sailed 31st May. They arrived back 23d October, 1683. Mr. Robert Humphreys, of London, appeared for the colony at the court of king's bench in the matter of the forfeiture of the charter.
1688. April, Rev. Increase Mather went as an informal agent, there being no legislature under Andros. Sir Henry Ashurst acted with him.
1690. Mather and Ashurst were appointed by the restored government, together with Elisha Cooke and Thomas Oakes.

ASSISTANTS. – Plymouth

The record commences in 1634, and from that time elections were annual. Before that, we learn from Bradford's History (p. 101), that Isaac Allerton was chosen assistant in 1621. In 1624 the number was raised to five, the governor having a double vote. In 1632 (p. 306, note), the editor says that Miles Standish, Samuel Fuller, John Alden and Thomas Prence probably held this office.

LIST OF CIVIL OFFICERS
UNDER THE SECOND CHARTER, OR THE PROVINCIAL PERIOD.

GOVERNORS.

Sir William Phips. Appointed October, 1691, and commissioned December 12, 1691. Arrived at Boston May 14, 1692. Our Council records commence May 16, 1692, probably the date of his entrance upon his duties. He left Boston November 17, 1694.

Lt. Gov. William Stoughton.* November, 1694, till the arrival of Bellomont.

Richard, Earl of Bellomont. Arrived at Boston May 26, 1699, and his commission was published that day. He went to New York in May, 1700, and died the 5th of March following. Commissioned June 18, 1697.

Lt. Gov. William Stoughton.* From May, 1700, till his death, July 7, 1701.

The Council. From July, 1701, till June, 1702.

Joseph Dudley. Arrived at Boston June 11, 1702. He acted till February 4, 1714–15, when the Council assumed control, Dudley not having been confirmed by the new king. Commissioned April 1, 1702.

The Council. February 4, 1714–15, till March 21, 1714–15.

Joseph Dudley. March 21, 1714–15, the king's proclamation was read, and Dudley reassumed office.

Col. Elizeus or Elisha Burgess. His commission passed the seals March 17, 1714–15, and was published at Boston November 9, 1715. He sold his commission to Col. Shute's friends for £1,000 in April, 1716.

Lt. Gov. William Tailer.* Took the office November 9, 1715, and acted till the arrival of Shute.

Samuel Shute. He was appointed upon the 15th June, 1716, and arrived at Boston October 4, 1716. He left Boston suddenly January 1, 1722–3.

Lt. Gov. William Dummer.* From January 1, 1722–3, till the arrival of Burnet.

William Burnet. He was appointed March 7, 1727–8, and arrived at Boston July 13, 1728. He died at Boston September 7, 1729.

Lt. Gov. William Dummer. Succeeded at Burnet's death, and sworn September 10 as commander-in-chief.

Jonathan Belcher. Commissioned January 8, 1729–30. Arrived at Boston August 10, 1730.

William Shirley. Commissioned May 16, 1741. He was then living at Boston. His administration ended at Pownall's arrival.

Thomas Pownall. Appointed February 25, 1757. Arrived at Boston August 2, 1757. He was transferred to South Carolina, and sailed for England June 3, 1760.

Lt. Gov. Thomas Hutchinson.* From Pownall's departure till the arrival of Bernard.

Sir Francis Bernard. Commissioned January 14, 1760. Arrived at Boston August 2, 1760. Sailed for England August 2, 1769.

Lt. Gov. Thomas Hutchinson.* From Bernard's departure till his own commission as governor arrived.

* Acting Governor.

NOTES.

1693. Elisha Cooke was elected and negatived.

1701. Jonathan Corwin was negatived, but, June 3rd, was accepted by the Governor.

1703. Elisha Cooke, Peter Sergeant, Thomas Oakes, John Saffin and John Bradford were negatived.

1703. May 26. A message was sent up from the House in the words following: "That this House are of Opinion that every Person who is chosen a Councellour for this Province ought to have the Voice of the Major Part of the Electors, and therefore Moved that the Election of Councellours be so made at this Time and for the Future, which they apprehend most agreeable to the Charter." "His Excellency signified his Dissent therefrom in the following Words, viz.: 'I do not Consent to this Vote, the Charter directing the choice of twenty-eight Councellours for her Majesties service, which may fail by this Method, and it being contrary to the usage of the General assembly in any election past since the Granting of the present Charter of this Province'; and directed that the elections be made after the former manner and usage."

After the election "His Excellency sent a message saying 'that there were several gentlemen left out that were of the Council last year, who were of good ability for estate and otherwise to serve her Majesty, and well disposed thereto; and that some others who were anew elected were not so well disposed, some of them being of little or mean estate: and withal signified that he should expunge five of the names on their list, viz.: Elisha Cooke, Peter Sargeant, esqs., Mr. Thomas Oakes, Mr. John Saffin, and Mr. Bradford."

1704. Elisha Cooke and Peter Sergeant were negatived, and June 13th Simeon Stoddard and Samuel Hayman were chosen.

1706. Elisha Cooke and Joseph Hammond were negatived, and June 6th Benjamin Brown and Ephraim Hunt were chosen.

1708. Elisha Cooke and Nathaniel Paine were negatived, and June 23rd Daniel Epes and Joseph Church were chosen.

1714. Nathaniel Byfield was negatived, and June 3rd John Clark was chosen.

1715. Nathaniel Byfield was negatived and no else then chosen. Dec. 3rd four were elected to fill vacancies, viz.: Penn Townsend, Nathaniel Byfield, Thomas Noyes and Adam Winthrop.

1718. Elisha Cooke was negatived. He being however a member for the preceding year, "His Excellency having signified to Elisha Cooke, esq., that he excused his attendance at the Board as one of his Majesties Council for the present year, he withdrew." May 30th Paul Dudley was chosen.

1720. Nathaniel Byfield and John Clark were negatived.

1721. Nathaniel Byfield was negatived.
1722. Nathaniel Byfield and William Clark were negatived, and June 29th Nathaniel Payne and William Dummer were chosen.
1723. Nathaniel Byfield was negatived.
1725. William Throop was negatived.
1729. Jonathan Belcher and Isaac Little were negatived.
1732. Isaac Little was negatived.
1733. Payne Mayhew was negatived.
1737. Paul Dudley was negatived.
1739. Paul Dudley was negatived.
1740. Paul Dudley and Isaac Little were negatived.
1741. Thirteen were negatived, viz.: Edward Goddard, Daniel Epes, James Minot, Samuel White, Samuel Adams, William Stoddard, Estes Hatch, Thomas Norton, Ephraim Wilder, Henry Burchstead, Dr. John Clark, George Leonard, John Otis.

The Governor then dissolved the House, sending the following Message: "The management of the elections made yesterday discover to me so much of the inclination of your House to support the fraudulent pernicious scheme commonly called the Land Bank, condemned at home by His Majesty and both Houses of Parliament of Great Britain, that I judge it derogatory to the King's honour and service and inconsistent with the peace and welfare of this people, that you sit any longer in General Assembly; and I have therefore directed Mr. Secretary to declare this Court dissolved."

The vacancies in the Council seem to have remained unfilled all the year.

1751. Isaac Royall was negatived as his "choice appears to be attended with such circumstances in relation to his own conduct in that affair, as may (if countenanced) be of evil influence and example in future elections."
1766. Joseph Gerrish, Thomas Saunders, James Otis, Jerathmeel Bowers, Nathaniel Sparhawk and Samuel Dexter were negatived. Six in all.
1767. Joseph Gerrish, Thomas Saunders, James Otis, Jerathmeel Bowers and Samuel Dexter were negatived. Five vacancies.
1768. Joseph Gerrish, Thomas Saunders, James Otis, Jerathmeel Bowers, John Hancock and Artemas Ward were negatived, making six vacancies.
1769. Eleven were negatived, viz.: William Brattle, Benjamin Greenleaf, James Bowdoin, Artemas Ward, Thomas Saunders, Joseph Gerrish, John Hancock, Joshua Henshaw, James Otis, Jerathmeel Bowers, Walter Spooner.

Joseph Hawley was elected and declined, making twelve vacancies.

1770. John Hancock and Jerathmeel Bowers were negatived.
1771. John Hancock and Jerathmeel Bowers were negatived.
1772. Jerathmeel Bowers was negatived.
1773. Jerathmeel Bowers, William Phillips and John Adams were negatived. Bowers seems to have had a double vote, so that there were four vacancies.
1774. Thirteen were negatived, viz.: James Bowdoin, Samuel Dexter, John Winthrop, Timothy Damilson, Benjamin Austin, William Phillips, Michael Farley, James Prescott, John Adams, Norton Quincy, Jerathmeel Bowers, Enoch Freeman, Jedidiah Foster.
1774. June 17th. Governor Gage dissolved the House.

NOTES.

1705. The Governor negatived Oakes, but the House insisted and carried the point.

1720. The Governor negatived Cooke, and as the House would not elect another he dissolved it; the new Court chose Lindall.

1739. Paul Dudley was elected and negatived. The House at once chose Quincy.

1741. Samuel Watts was chosen and negatived, when Fairfield was elected. At the second Court, Hobson was chosen.

1766. James Otis was elected and negatived, and Cushing was then chosen.

SUPERIOR COURT OF JUDICATURE.

DATE OF APPOINTMENT.	NAME OF JUSTICE.
1692. Dec. 7.	William Stoughton, Chief Justice, Thomas Danforth, John Richards, Wait Winthrop, Samuel Sewall, appointed.
	Stoughton, Danforth, Richards, Winthrop, Sewall.
1694–5. Mar. 6.	Elisha Cooke, appointed.[1]
	Stoughton, Danforth, Winthrop, Sewall, Cooke.
1696. Oct. 16.	The same confirmed.
1699. July 17.	The same confirmed.
1700. June 7.	John Walley, appointed.[2]
	Stoughton, Winthrop, Sewall, Cooke, Walley.
1701. Aug. 1.	John Saffin, appointed.[3]
	Winthrop, Sewall, Cooke, Walley, Saffin.
1702. June 29.	Isaac Addington, Chief Justice, Samuel Sewall, John Walley, appointed.[4]
July 8.	John Leverett, appointed.
Aug. 14.	John Hathorne, appointed.
	Addington, Sewall, Walley, Leverett, Hathorne.
1703. July 23.	(Addington desires to resign.)[5]
1707–8. Feb. 19.	Wait Winthrop, appointed.[6]
Feb. 20.	Jonathan Corwin, appointed.[6]
	Winthrop, Sewall, Walley, Hathorne, Corwin.
1712. June 4.	Nathaniel Thomas, appointed.[7]
June 5.	Benjamin Lynde, appointed.[7]
	Winthrop, Sewall, Corwin, Thomas, Lynde.

[1] Cooke succeeded John Richards, who died April 4, 1694.

[2] Walley succeeded Thomas Danforth, who died Nov. 5, 1699.

[3] William Stoughton having died July 7, 1701, Winthrop was made C. J., and Saffin added.

[4] Nathaniel Thomas and Nathaniel Byfield were both nominated with the others elected June 29, 1702, but the Council "consented not to the above two."

[5] July 23, 1703. "Isaac Addington, Esq., represented to the Board the decay of his health and incapacity of sustaining the Office of Chief Justice of Her Majesty's Superiour Court of Judicature, and offered his Commission for that place. His Excellency declared that no further service was expected from him therein at present, and that he would consider with the Council to fill that place as soon as possible."

[6] Feb. 19, 1707–8. Winthrop was appointed Chief Justice in place of Addington. For Associate, Elisha Hutchinson was nominated, but the Council adjourned till the next day, when he declined "being further named for that service," and Corwin was appointed. Leverett had undoubtedly resigned on being appointed President of Harvard College.

[7] There were two vacancies, owing to the death of John Walley, Jan. 11, 1711–12, and the resignation of John Hathorne, "by reason of his great hardness of hearing." Nathaniel Thomas was elected June 4, as

DATE OF APPOINTMENT.	NAME OF JUSTICE.
1715. Dec. 19.	Addington Davenport appointed.[8] Winthrop, Sewall, Thomas, Lynde, Davenport.
1718. Apr. 16.	Edmund Quincy, Paul Dudley appointed.[9] Sewall, Lynde, Davenport, Quincy, Dudley.
1728. Dec. 12.	Benjamin Lynde, Chief Justice, Addington Davenport, Paul Dudley, Edmund Quincy, John Cushing appointed.[10] Lynde, Davenport, Dudley, Quincy, Cushing.
1733. June 21.	Benjamin Lynde, Addington Davenport, Paul Dudley, Edmund Quincy, Jonathan Remington appointed.[11] Lynde, Davenport, Dudley, Quincy, Remington.
1736. June 22.	(John Stoddard appointed, but did not serve.)[12]
Dec. 29.	Richard Saltonstall appointed.[12] Lynde, Dudley, Quincy, Remington, Saltonstall.
1737–8. Jan. 13.	Thomas Greaves appointed.[13] Lynde, Dudley, Remington, Saltonstall, Greaves.
1739. May 16.	Stephen Sewall appointed.[14] Lynde, Dudley, Remington, Saltonstall, Sewall.
1745–6. Jan. 24.	Paul Dudley, Richard Saltonstall, Stephen Sewall, Nathaniel Hubbard, Benjamin Lynde, (jr.) appointed.[15] Dudley, Saltonstall, Sewall, Hubbard, Lynde.
1747–8. Feb. 16.	John Cushing appointed.[16] Dudley, Saltonstall, Sewall, Lynde, Cushing.

was also Thomas Brattle, but on the 5th, Brattle desired the Secretary "to return his thanks to the Governor and Council for their respect shown him, and withall to acquaint them that his bodily infirmities and unacquaintedness with the Law, will not allow of his acceptance of the office of a Justice of the Superior Court." Benjamin Lynde was accordingly appointed.

[8] Of the old Board four were re-appointed, Corwin being omitted probably on account of his great age.

[9] There were two vacancies, Wait Winthrop having died Nov. 5, 1717, and Nathaniel Thomas 22 Oct., 1718, aged 75. Sewall was made Chief Justice. Dudley was appointed Nov. 20.

[10] Cushing succeeded Sewall, who resigned on account of age.

[11] Remington succeeded Cushing, who was probably left out on account of his age, as he was 75 years old at his death in 1737.

[12] Addington Davenport died in April, 1736, and John Stoddard was appointed but never served. The vacancy was filled by the selection of Richard Saltonstall.

[13] Thomas Greaves was appointed "in the room of Edmund Quincy, Esq., during the time of his absence abroad in the service of the Province." Greaves received a full appointment Aug. 19, 1738, but resigned the position soon.

[14] Stephen Sewall, "in the room of Thomas Greaves, Esq., resigned."

[15] Benjamin Lynde, Sr., had died Jan. 28, 1744–5, and Jonathan Remington had died Sept. 20, 1745. These vacancies were filled by the appointment of Hubbard and Lynde, the latter being the son of the late Chief Justice. The Council record has Mitchell Sewall for Stephen, a clerical error.

[16] John Cushing, son of the former Judge, took the place of Hubbard, who died probably in that year.

Superior Court of Judicature—Concluded.

DATE OF APPOINTMENT.	NAME OF JUSTICE.
1752. April 4.	Chambers Russell appointed.[17] Sewall, Saltonstall, Lynde, Cushing, Russell.
1756. Sept. 14.	Peter Oliver appointed.[18] Sewall, Lynde, Cushing, Russell, Oliver.
1760. Nov. 13.	Thomas Hutchinson appointed.[19] Hutchinson, Lynde, Cushing, Russell, Oliver.
1761. Apr. 15.	The same five confirmed.
1767. Mch. 25.	Edmund Trowbridge appointed.[20] Hutchinson, Lynde, Cushing, Oliver, Trowbridge.
1771. Mch. 21.	Foster Hutchinson appointed.[21] Lynde, Cushing, Oliver, Trowbridge, F. Hutchinson.
1772. Jan. 15.	Nathaniel Ropes, William Cushing appointed.[22] Oliver, Trowbridge, F. Hutchinson, Ropes, W. Cushing.
1774. June 15.	William Browne appointed.[23] Oliver, Trowbridge, F. Hutchinson, W. Cushing, Browne.

[17] Sewall succeeded as Chief after the death of Paul Dudley, Jan. 21, 1751-2, and Russell filled the vacancy.

[18] Oliver was appointed, "Richard Saltonstall having resigned."

[19] Hutchinson was made Chief in the place of Sewall, who died Nov., 1760.

[20] Trowbridge succeeded Russell, who died in England, 24 Nov., 1766.

[21] Foster Hutchinson was appointed, as his brother had become Governor, and Lynde was made C. J.

[22] Ropes and Cushing in place of J. Cushing, who resigned in 1771, as did C. J. Lynde. Oliver became Chief Justice. On March 18th, all but Oliver were again named; perhaps the two old commissions needed renewal.

[23] Browne succeeded Ropes, who died 18 Mch., 1774.

1728. Dec. 19.	Same confirmed.

[1] June 29, 1702. Thomas Brattle and Samuel Legg were nominated also, but rejected. Addington had been promoted to the Superior Court, and Sergeant was dropped.

[2] Nathaniel Oliver was also nominated, July 2, 1702, but was rejected. July 8th. Thomas Brattle was again nominated and rejected.

[3] John Foster having died Feb. 9, 1710–11, the Governor nominated, March 23, 1710–11, Thomas Brattle, who was rejected. He then, April 2, 1711, nominated Samuel Lynde, who was rejected; and the Council added, "It is their unanimous opinion That the three surviving Justices, being a Quorum according to the Law, are legally qualified to hold the said Court, and ought to hold the same accordingly, that the service of the Queen nor subjects be prejudiced for failure thereof." Palmer was finally appointed.

[4] Dummer and Townsend were omitted, the former probably on account of his age, 70 years.

[5] Elisha Hutchinson had died, Dec. 10, 1717, and Townsend was recalled to the bench to take his place as Chief Justice.

[6] Edward Hutchinson was appointed "in the place of Edward Lyde."

[7] Penn Townsend died Aug. 21, 1727, making this vacancy.

Inferior Court of Common Pleas—Continued.

1771. Jan. 10.	Nathaniel Hatch appointed.[18] Elm. Hutchinson, F. Hutchinson, Reed, Hatch.

[8] Hutchinson and Dudley were both displaced at this appointment, though both afterwards were returned.

[9] Thomas Palmer was promoted to the place of Nathaniel Byfield, who died 6 June, 1733; Winthrop to Cooke's place; Dudley returned to the bench, and Stoddard was a new appointment.

[10] Edward Hutchinson filled the vacancy caused by the death of Thomas Palmer, Oct. 8th, 1740.

[11] Eliakim Hutchinson was in the place of Adam Winthrop, resigned.

[12] Edward Winslow was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of William Dudley, Aug. 10th, 1743.

[13] Samuel Watts was in the place of Stoddard, who died March 11, 1748.

[14] Thomas Hutchinson succeeded his uncle Edward H., who died March 16, 1743.

[15] Welles succeeded Winslow, who died Dec., 1753, aged 85.

[16] Thomas Hutchinson having resigned "on account of his several employments," his brother succeeded him.

[17] William Reed took the place of Watts, who died March 12, 1770.

[18] Hatch succeeded Welles, who died May 20, 1770.

Inferior Court of Common Pleas—Concluded.

1698. June 3.	Daniel Peirce appointed.[2] Hathorne, Browne, Corwin, Peirce.
1699. July 17.	The same confirmed.
1702. June 30.	Nathaniel Saltonstall, William Browne, John Hathorne and Daniel Peirce appointed. Saltonstall, Browne, Hathorne, Peirce.
Oct. 23.	Jonathan Corwin appointed.[3] Saltonstall, Browne, Peirce, Corwin.
1704. June 14.	John Appleton appointed.[4] Saltonstall, Browne, Corwin, Appleton.
1707. June 10.	Thomas Noyes appointed.[5] Appleton, Browne, Corwin, Noyes.
1708. June 15.	John Higginson appointed.[6] Appleton, Browne, Noyes, Higginson.
1715. Dec. 9.	John Appleton, John Higginson, Thomas Noyes and Samuel Browne appointed.[7] Appleton, Higginson, Noyes, Browne.

[1] William Browne in place of Samuel Appleton, who died May 15, 1696. Oct. 16, same continued.

[2] Daniel Peirce appointed "in the place of Bartholomew Gedney, deceased," who died Feb. 28. 1697-8.

[3] It seems that Corwin had been superseded by Saltonstall at the time of appointments in June; but as Hathorne was appointed to the Superior Court Aug. 14th, Corwin was re-instated very soon.

[4] John Appleton was in place of Daniel Peirce, who died Jan. 22, 1703-4.

[5] Thomas Noyes was in place of Nathaniel Saltonstall, who died May 21, 1707.

[6] Higginson filled the vacancy caused by Corwin's appointment to the Superior Court.

[7] William Browne, being old, (he died Feb. 14, 1715-16, aged 78,) was replaced at this time by his son, Samuel.

Inferior Court of Common Pleas—Continued.

DATE OF APPOINTMENT.	NAMES.
1720. July 15.	John Burrill appointed.[8]
	Appleton, Noyes, Browne, Burrill.
1721–2. Mch. 9.	Josiah Wolcott appointed.[9]

	Choat, Gibbs, Tasker, Pickman.
1759. Mch. 8.	Caleb Cushing appointed.[18]
	Choat, Tasker, Pickman, Cushing.

[8] John Burrill was in place of John Higginson, who died 23d Mch. 1719–20.

[9] Wolcott was in place of John Burrill, who died Dec. 10th, 1721.

[10] Thomas Noyes (who died April 12, 1730,) was very old, and hence probably omitted. Josiah Wolcott had died Feb. 2, 1728–9. There were, therefore, two new appointments at this time.

[11] Samuel Browne had died June 16, 1731. John Appleton was probably omitted on the score of his age, 80 years, though he was continued in the Probate Court.

[12] Marston was in the place of Theophilus Burrill, who died 4th July, 1737.

[13] Lynde succeeded John Wainwright, who died Sept. 1, 1739.

[14] Choat was appointed when Benjamin Lynde was transferred to the Superior Court.

[15] Gibbs was in the place of "Timothy Lindall, who had resigned."

[16] Tasker succeeded Marston, who died 22d May, 1754, aged 57.

[17] Pickman succeeded Berry, who died 10th August, 1756.

[18] Cushing took the place of Gibbs, who died Feb., 1759.

Inferior Court of Common Pleas—Concluded.

DATE OF APPOINTMENT.	NAMES.
1761. June 24.	Stephen Higginson appointed.[19]
	Choat, Tasker, Cushing, Higginson.

1762. Mch. 11.	Epes Sergeant and Daniel Appleton.
1763. Feb. 17.	Jacob Fowle and Samuel Rogers.
1766. Feb. 5.	William Brown.

[19] Higginson is named in the place of Pickman, in a new commission of this date. He died, however, Oct. 12, 1761, aged 45.

[20] Ropes and Oliver are named in the new commission of this date, in the place of Higginson, deceased Oct. 12, 1761, and Tasker, who died Nov. 9, 1761.

[21] Bourn was to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Choat, and Ropes was at the same date made Chief Justice.

[22] Browne succeeded Bourn, who died Aug. 12, 1770, aged 47.

[23] Frye succeeded Ropes, transferred to the Superior Court.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY.

INFERIOR COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

DATE OF APPOINTMENT.	NAMES.
1692. Dec. 7.	John Phillips, James Russell, Joseph Lynde and Samuel Hayman appointed. Phillips, Russell, Lynde, Hayman.
1696. Oct. 16.	The same confirmed.
1699. July 17.	The same confirmed.
1702. June 29.	James Russell, John Phillips and Jonathan Tyng appointed.[1]
July 8.	Joseph Lynde appointed. Russell, Phillips, Tyng, Lynde.
1709. June 23.	Francis Foxcroft appointed.[2] Phillips, Tyng, Lynde, Foxcroft.
1715. Dec. 9.	Joseph Lynde, Francis Foxcroft, Jonathan Tyng and Jonathan Remington appointed.[3] Lynde, Foxcroft, Tyng, Remington.
1719. June 27.	Jonathan Dowse, Charles Chambers and Francis Fulham appointed.[4] Remington, Dowse, Chambers, Fulham.
1729. Aug. 22.	The same confirmed.
1731. July 9.	The same confirmed.
1733. June 22.	Thomas Greaves appointed.[5] Dowse, Chambers, Fulham, Greaves.
1737–8. Mch. 9.	Francis Foxcroft appointed.[6] Dowse, Chambers, Fulham, Foxcroft.

[1] Samuel Hayman, thus superseded, died Dec., 1712, aged 74.

[2] Foxcroft was appointed, owing to the death of James Russell, April 28, 1709.

[3] Remington was a new appointment. Phillips, probably, was omitted on account of his age, 85 years, though he lived until Mch. 20, 1724–5.

[4] Dowse, Chambers and Fulham were appointed in the room of Lynde, Tyng and Foxcroft. Very probably these three were dropped on account of their age, Lynde (who died Jany. 29, 1727) being then 8[illegible], Tyng, 77 (he died Jany. 19, 1724), and Foxcroft (who died Jany. 1728), 62 years.

[5] Greaves succeeded Jonathan Remington, who was transferred to the Supreme Court.

[6] Foxcroft was appointed Mch. 9 "in the room of Thomas Greaves, Esq., while he remains one of the Justices of the Superior Court," and Aug. 19 he was regularly appointed.

Inferior Court of Common Pleas—Concluded.

DATE OF APPOINTMENT.	NAMES.
1739. Dec. 21.	Thomas Greaves re-appointed.[7]
	Dowse, Fulham, Greaves, Foxcroft.
1741. July 21.	Samuel Danforth appointed.[8]
	Fulham, Greaves, Foxcroft, Danforth.
1747. Aug. 19.	Chambers Russell appointed.[9]
	Fulham, Foxcroft, Danforth, Russell.
1752. April 7.	Andrew Boardman appointed.[10]
	Fulham, Foxcroft, Danforth, Boardman.
1753. Aug. 24.	Same four confirmed.
1755. June 26.	William Lawrence appointed.[11]
	Foxcroft, Danforth, Boardman, Lawrence.
1761. Nov. 20.	Same confirmed.
1763. Sept. 7.	John Tyng appointed.[12]
	Danforth, Foxcroft, Boardman, Tyng.
1764. Mch. 7.	Richard Foster appointed.[13]
	Danforth, Boardman, Tyng, Foster.
1769. May 24.	Joseph Lee appointed.[14]
	Danforth, Tyng, Foster, Lee.
1771. May 16.	James Russell appointed.[15]
	Danforth, Tyng, Lee, Russell.
	Last term of the Court was held May 21, 1774.

[7] Greaves was superseded on the bench of the Superior Court by Stephen Sewall, May 16, 1739. He was reappointed here "in the room of Charles Chambers, Esq., who had resigned," and Foxcroft's appointment remained undisturbed. Chambers was old, being 82 at his death, 27 Apr., 1743.

[8] Danforth was "in the room of Jonathan Dowse, Esq.," who was then probably too old to serve longer, being 82 at his death, 28 Jany., 1744–5.

[9] Russell succeeded Greaves, who died 19 June, 1747.

[10] Boardman took the place of Russell, promoted to Superior Court.

[11] Lawrence succeeded Francis Fulham, who resigned, and died 18 Jany., 1758, aged 87.

[12] Tyng, no doubt, succeeded Lawrence, who probably resigned before his death, May 19, 1764, aged 67.

[13] Foster succeeded Foxcroft, who probably resigned this year, and died Mch. 28, 1768, aged 75.

[14] Lee was to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Boardman, May 20, 1769.

[15] Russell succeeded Foster, who resigned, and died Aug. 1774, aged 82.

[1] Parsons succeeded Tilton, who died 11 July, 1696.

[2] J. Pynchon, (2d,) was appointed, "there being at present but three in that commission;" his father, John P., had died Jany. 17, 1702–3.

[3] Porter was appointed "to fill a vacancy;" Hawley having died 1711.

[4] Stoddard was "in room of Joseph Parsons," who lived till Nov., 1729.

[5] John Pynchon, (3d,) was "in room of his father, deceased," who died 25 Apr., 1721.

[6] Dwight and Ashley were "in the room of Samuel Porter and John Pynchon;" of these Porter had died 29 July, 1722, but Pynchon was superseded.

[7] John Pynchon, (3d,) was restored in place of Dwight, who died 20 Mch., 1731-2.

Court of Common Pleas—Continued.

DATE OF APPOINTMENT.	NAMES.
1734–5. Feb. 21.	Ebenezer Pomroy.[8]
	Partridge, Stoddard, Ashley, Pomroy.
1737. July 2.	John Stoddard, Eleazer Porter, Timothy Dwight, William Pynchon, Jr., appointed.[9]
	Stoddard, Porter, T. Dwight, W. Pynchon, Jr.
1738. July 8.	William Pynchon, Sr., appointed.[10]
	Stoddard, Porter, Dwight, W. Pynchon, Sr.
1741. Apr. 2.	Joseph Pynchon appointed.[11]
	Stoddard, Porter, Dwight, J. Pynchon.
July 21.	Ephraim Williams appointed.[12]
	Stoddard, Porter, J. Pynchon, Williams.
1748. Nov. 8.	Timothy Dwight appointed.[13]
	Porter, J. Pynchon, Williams, T. Dwight.
1749–50. Jan. 18.	Josiah Dwight appointed.[14]
	Porter, J. Pynchon, T. Dwight, J. Dwight.
1753. Jan. 4.	Joseph Dwight appointed.[15]
	Porter, T. Dwight, Josiah Dwight, Jos. Dwight.
1758. Jan. 11.	Joseph Dwight, Israel Williams, Josiah Dwight and Timothy Dwight, Jr., appointed.[16]
	Jos. Dwight, I. Williams, Josi. Dwight, T. Dwight, Jr.
1761. June 24.	Elijah Williams appointed.[17]
	I. Williams, Josi. Dwight, T. Dwight, Jr., E. Williams.

[8] Pomroy was "in the room of John Pynchon," thus again superseded, but who lived until 12 July, 1742, when he died, aged 68.

[9] Three new judges appointed; of those retired Partridge died 25 July, 1740, aged 95; Ashley died 17 Apr., 1759, aged 89; and Pomroy died 1754.

[10] Wm. Pynchon was "in room of Wm. Pynchon, Jr., who has resigned;" in this case an uncle succeeded his nephew.

[11] Joseph Pynchons ucceeded Wm. P., Sr., who died 1 Jany., 1740-41, aged 52.

[12] Ephraim Williams was "in the room of Timothy Dwight," who lived long after this, dying 30 Apr., 1771.

[13] Timothy Dwight was restored after the death of Stoddard, 19 June, 1748.

[14] Josiah Dwight was "in the room of Ephraim Williams, resigned;" this was probably Ephraim W., Sr., who died in 1754, aged 63. Dwight seems to have been again commissioned Aug. 24 of same year.

[15] Joseph Dwight succeeded Joseph Pynchon; yet 17 Aug., 1753, Joseph Pynchon was named in the commission, and 13 Sept., 1753, Dwight is named in the commission instead. I conclude that this shows a clerical error in retaining Pynchon's name, which was promptly remedied by the Council.

[16] Israel Williams and Timothy Dwight, Jr., were new appointments; Porter died 1757, and Timothy Dwight undoubtedly resigned, as he lived till 10 July, 1771.

[17] Elijah Williams succeeded Joseph Dwight, who was transferred to Berkshire.

PLYMOUTH COUNTY.

INFERIOR COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

DATE OF APPOINTMENT.	NAMES.
1692. Dec. 7.	William Bradford, Nathaniel Thomas, John Cushing and Ephraim Morton appointed. Bradford, Thomas, Cushing, Morton.
1696. Oct. 16.	William Bradford, Nathaniel Thomas, John Wadsworth and Isaac Little appointed.[1] Bradford, Thomas, Wadsworth, Little.
1699. July 17.	The same four confirmed.
1700. June 7.	John Cushing, Jr., and James Warren appointed.[2] Bradford, Thomas, Cushing, Warren.
1702. June 29.	Nathaniel Thomas, Isaac Winslow, John Cushing and James Warren appointed.[3] Thomas, Winslow, Cushing, Warren.
1702–3. Mch. 18.	Joseph Otis appointed.[4] Thomas, Otis, Cushing, Warren.
1712. June 4.	Isaac Winslow appointed.[5] Cushing, Otis, Warren, Winslow.
1715. Dec. 9.	John Cushing, Isaac Winslow, Seth Arnold and Nathaniel Thomas, Jr., appointed.[6] Cushing, Winslow, Arnold, Thomas.
1721. Nov. 15.	Isaac Lothrop appointed.[7] Cushing, Winslow, Thomas, Lothrop.

[1] Morton died 7 Sept., 1693; Cushing probably resigned, as he was then about 70 years old. He died 31 Mch., 1708.

[2] Little probably died 29 Dec., 1699, and Wadsworth died 15 May, 1700. These two vacancies were filled by new men.

[3] Winslow doubtless took the place of Bradford, who resigned, as he died 20 Feb., 1703–4, aged about 80 years.

[4] Otis seems to have taken the place of Winslow, since the latter was again appointed in 1712.

[5] Winslow took the place of Thomas, "transferred to the Superior Court."

[6] Arnold and Thomas succeeded Otis, who resigned, doubtless, as he lived till 1754, and Warren, who died May, 1715.

[7] Lothrop took the place of "Arnold, deceased."

Inferior Court of Common Pleas—Continued.

DATE OF APPOINTMENT.	NAMES.
1729. April 10.	Isaac Winslow, Nathaniel Thomas, Isaac Lothrop and Josiah Cotton appointed.[8] Winslow, Thomas, Lothrop, Cotton.

1743. Sept. 9.	Thomas Clapp appointed.[12] Sever, Cotton, Cushing, Clapp.
1747. Dec. 12.	Peter Oliver appointed.[13] Sever, Cushing, Clapp, Oliver.
1747–8. Mch. 1.	Isaac Lothrop appointed.[14] Sever, Clapp, Oliver, Lothrop, (2d.)
1751. June 21.	Elijah Cushing appointed.[15] Sever, Clapp, Oliver, Cushing.
1756. Sept. 14.	Thomas Foster appointed.[16] Sever, Clapp, Cushing, Foster.
1762. Jan. 28.	John Winslow, Thomas Clapp, Elijah Cushing, Thomas Foster appointed.[17] Winslow, Clapp, Cushing, Foster.

[8] Cotton succeeded Cushing, who was "transferred to the Superior Court."

[9] Sever took the place of Lothrop, who was dropped for a few years, probably at his own request.

[10] John Cushing took the place of Isaac Winslow, who resigned.

[11] Lothrop was restored and made Chief Justice, in the room of N. Thomas, who died Feb., 1739, aged 75.

[12] Clapp was appointed after the death of Lothrop, 10 Sept., 1743, aged 70.

[13] Oliver was "in the room of Josiah Cotton, Esq., who had resigned."

[14] Isaac Lothrop, son of the former judge, took the place of Cushing, transferred to the Superior Court.

[15] Elijah Cushing was the successor of I. Lothrop, who died 26 Apr., 1750, aged 43.

[16] Foster was appointed as Oliver had been promoted to the Superior Court.

[17] Winslow was in the place of Sever, probably omitted on account of his age; he died Apr. 7, 1764, aged 84.

BRISTOL COUNTY.

INFERIOR COURT OF COMMON PLEAS.

Date of Appointment.	Names.
1692. Dec. 7.	John Saffin, Thomas Leonard, Nicholas Peck and John Browne appointed. Saffin, Leonard, Peck, Browne.
1696. Oct. 16.	The same confirmed.
1699. July 17.	The same confirmed.
1701. Aug. 7.	Nathaniel Byfield appointed.[1] Leonard, Peck, Browne, Byfield.
1702. June 29.	Nathaniel Byfield, John Browne, Thomas Leonard and Ebenezer Brenton appointed.[2] Byfield, Browne, Leonard, Brenton.
1708. Sept. 30.	Benjamin Church appointed.[3] Byfield, Browne, Leonard, Church.
1709. Dec. 28.	Henry Mackintosh appointed.[4] Byfield, Leonard, Church, Mackintosh.
1710. Aug. 24.	Nathaniel Payne appointed.[5] Leonard, Church, Mackintosh, Payne.
1713–14. Jan. 1.	Simon Davis appointed.[6] Church, Mackintosh, Payne, Davis.
1715. Dec. 10.	Nathaniel Byfield, Nathaniel Payne, Henry Mackintosh and George Leonard appointed.[7] Byfield, Payne, Mackintosh, Leonard.

[1] Byfield took the place of John Saffin, transferred to the Superior Court.

Brenton took the place of Peck, who resigned, probably on account of age, being 80 years at his death, 27 May, 1710.

[3] Church filled the vacancy owing to the death of Ebenezer Brenton, who died

[4] Mackintosh succeeded John Browne, who died

[5] The cause of Payne's appointment was the following vote of the Council: "June 24, 1710. Upon consideration of the unmannerly and rude behaviour of Nathaniel Byfield, Esquire, yesterday to his Excellency the Governor and the Board, and his peremptory refusal to obey their order directed to him as Judge of Probate, Advised, That His Excellency be desired to suspend the said Nathaniel Byfield, Esquire, from the exercise of those civil offices that he holds under this Government."

[6] Davis succeeded Thomas Leonard, who died 24 Nov., 1713, aged 72.

[7] Byfield was re-appointed in place of Col. Church, who was old, as he died Jan. 17, 1717-18, aged 77. Leonard was in place of Davis.

Inferior Court of Common Pleas—Continued.

	Williams, Hubbard, Church, Almy.
1745–6. Feb. 8.	George Leonard and Stephen Payne appointed.[16]
	Williams, Almy, Leonard, Payne.
1747. June 27.	Ephraim Leonard appointed.[17]
	Williams, G. Leonard, Payne, E. Leonard.

[8] Blagrove was in the place of "Nathaniel Payne, deceased," says the Council Record, yet undoubtedly this was an error for George Leonard, who died 5 Sept., 1716. Payne is named until 1729.

[9] Williams succeeded Blagrove.

[10] Vyall was in the place of Byfield, "who has resigned."

[11] George Leonard, son of the former judge, probably took the place of Mackintosh.

[12] Hubbard succeeded Vyall, "who had resigned."

[13] Church took the place of Williams, who was omitted.

[14] Williams was re-appointed, "in the room of Nathaniel Payne, deceased."

[15] Almy was in the place of Leonard, who was left out for being concerned in the Land Bank, says Washburn, 369.

[16] Leonard, re-appointed, and Payne were "in the room of Nathaniel Hubbard and Thomas Church." Of these, Church was dead and Hubbard had been promoted to the Superior Court.

[17] Ephraim Leonard succeeded Almy.

1762. Jan. 21.	Timothy Ruggles, Thomas Steel, Joseph Wilder and Artemas Ward appointed.[9] Ruggles, Steel, Wilder, Ward.[10]

[1] Joseph Dwight was "in the room of John Chandler, Esq., who has resigned."

[2] Willard succeeded Jennison, who died 19 Sept., 1741.

[3] Nahum Ward was "in the room of William Ward."

[4] Hartwell's first appointment was "in the room of Joseph Dwight, Esq., and during his sickness." Dwight was then in the army.

[5] Hartwell was again appointed, succeeding Willard, who died Nov., 1752, aged 62.

[6] Chandler succeeded, as Dwight had been transferred to Hampshire, 4th Jan., 1753; it is possible that during this time Jonas Rice had been commissioned, and he died 22 Sept., 1753, aged 84, but there is no record of his being other than a special justice, acting during a vacancy.

[7] Steel succeeded N. Ward, who died 7 May, 1754, aged 70.

[8] Ruggles filled the vacancy caused by the death of Wilder, 29 Mch., 1757, aged 74.

[9] A. Ward and J. Wilder (son of the former judge,) succeeded John Chandler, who died 1763, aged 70, and Edward Hartwell, who died 17 Feb., 1785, aged 96.

[10] Wilder died Apr. 20, 1773, aged 65, but no successor appears to have been named before the Revolution.

1727. June 28.	John Read.	1767. Mch. 25.	Jeremiah Gridley.[15]
1728.	John Overing.[6]	Nov. 18.	Jonathan Sewall.[16]

[1] Anthony Checkley appointed by the Governor and Council.

[2] Dudley was appointed Nov. 20th, 1715. The House elected Thomas Newton, but the Council did not concur. June 8th, 1716, Dudley was elected, and again June 19, 1717, the Governor having yielded his claim to nominate. In April, 1718, Dudley was appointed Judge of the Superior Court, and probably resigned this office.

[3] Newton was elected in 1720 and probably in 1721, as Washburn says he was in office at his death, 28th May, 1721.

[4] Overing was elected by the House.

[5] Read was elected for five successive years by the House.

[6] John Overing was commissioned by the Governor and Council. June 12th, 1728, the House chose Addington Davenport, Jr., but this was of no effect. In 1731, Jan. 5th, the House chose John Reed, and July 4th, 1732, the House chose Addington Davenport, Jr., but the Governor resisted in both cases.

[7] Read was elected by the House, the Governor having yielded, and he was re-elected 13th June, 1733, and June 18th, 1735.

[8] Brattle was elected by the House, and again 5th July, 1737.

[9] Overing was elected this year, and also 31st July, 1741.

[10] Gridley was in office for one year, says Washburn.

[11] Washburn says Overing was re-elected annually for several years.

[12] Brattle was elected by the House.

[13] Otis was elected by the House, and again 22d June, 1749; yet this last election was probably void.

[14] Trowbridge was commissioned by the Governor and Council. He was also chosen June 30, 1750, by the House, but the controversy then ended, and he continued to act under his commission until his appointment to the Superior Court in 1767.

[15] Gridley was appointed with Jonathan Sewall to be Special Attorney-General in all cases where Gridley should be prevented attending. Gridley died 7 Sept., 1767.

[16] Sewall was appointed by the Governor and Council, and held office till the Revolution.

SOLICITOR-GENERAL.

DATE OF APPOINTMENT.	NAMES.
1767. June 24.	Jonathan Sewall.[1]
1771. Mch. 21.	Samuel Quincy.

[1] This office was created for Sewall, who, however, was made Attorney-General 18 Nov. of the same year. Washburn says that Quincy succeeded in the office, though there is no record of his appointment until 1771, as above noted.

COMMISSIONERS OF IMPOST AND EXCISE.

(ELECTED ANNUALLY.)

DATE OF APPOINTMENT.	NAMES.
1692. June 24.	Elisha Hutchinson, Jonathan Corwin and John Walley.
1693. April 6.	Elisha Hutchinson and John Walley.
1694. June 8.	John Walley.
1695.	John Walley.
1696. June 17.	James Tailer.
1697. June 18.	John Walley.
June 19.	John Walley, Nathaniel Byfield and Maj. Converse.
1698. June 27.	John Walley and Elisha Hutchinson.
1699. July 25.	John Walley and Penn Townsend.
Aug. 24.	William Payne.
1704. June 28.	James Russell.[1]
1709. April 30.	Elisha Hutchinson.[2]
June 10.	Daniel Russell.[3]
1762. Feb. 5.	James Russell.[4]

[1] James Russell held for several years, though the record seems imperfect.

[2] Hutchinson was appointed to fill the vacancy at Russell's death.

[3] Daniel Russell, son of James, seems to have been elected almost every year, and was doubtless in continuous service.

[4] James Russell was elected yearly until 1774.

INDEX No. II.

[Containing the names of Justices of the Peace and of Coroners.]

NOTE. The reader must bear in mind the fact that the mode of spelling surnames has varied within the last two centuries, and he must therefore look under all possible variations, which do not affect the sound of any given name. The index has been prepared with the idea of arranging all similar names under one head. Thus, no attention is given to such variations as: Allen — Allin; Corwin — Curwin; Payne — Paine; More — Moor; Welles — Wells; Sergeant — Sargent; Pierson — Pearson; Bolles — Bowles. A distinction is made in Gardiner and Gardner, Bowdoin and Bowden, where the correct pronunciation marks a difference in the names. Names of course are often repeated on a page.
